from the beloved award winning bestselling author of The Cellist of Sarajevo a beautiful suspense filled novel that uses the life and sudden death of Harry Houdini to weave a magical tale of intrigue love and illusion the confabulist weaves together the life loves and murder of the world's greatest magician Harry Houdini with the story of the man who killed him twice Martin Strauss an everyday man whose fate was tied to the magician's in unforeseen ways a cast of memorable characters spins around Houdini's celebrity driven life as they did in his time from the Romanov family soon to be assassinated to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and the powerful heads of Scotland Yard and the spiritualists who would use whoever they could to establish their religion a brilliant novel about fame and ambition reality and illusion and the ways that love grief and imagination can alter what we perceive and believe this brilliant novel with universal resonance tells the story of three people trying to survive in a city rife with the extreme fear of desperate times and of the sorrowing cellist who plays undaunted in their midst one day a shell lands in a bread line and kills twenty two people as the cellist watches from a window in his flat he vows to sit in the hollow where the mortar fell and play Albinoni's Adagio once a day for each of the twenty two victims the Adagio had been re-created from a fragment after the only extant score was firebombed in the Dresden Music Library but the fact that it had been rebuilt by a different composer into something new and worthwhile gives the cellist hope meanwhile Kenan steels himself for his weekly walk through the dangerous streets to collect water for his family on the other side of town and Dragan a man Kenan doesn't know tries to make his way towards the source of the free meal he knows is waiting both men are almost paralyzed with fear uncertain when the next shot will land on the bridges or streets they must cross unwilling to talk to their old friends of what life was once like before divisions were unleashed on their city then there is Arrow the pseudonymous name of a gifted female sniper who is asked to protect the cellist from a hidden shooter who is out to kill him as he plays his memorial to the victims in this beautiful and unforgettable novel Steven Galloway has taken an extraordinary imaginative leap to create a story that speaks powerfully to the dignity and generosity of the human spirit under extraordinary duress

the acclaimed author of Finnie Walsh turns from small town hockey to the extraordinary intrigues of circus life during the heyday of the big top through the story of Salvo Ursari undisputed master of the high wire as the novel opens it is the summer of 1976 Salvo is 66 years old and has decided he can never retire already famous thanks to his days in an American circus he has made a living in recent times performing solo walks of extraordinary difficulty and so he finds himself attempting to accomplish the most difficult feat of his career to walk a wire strung between the twin towers of the World Trade Center 1350 feet from the ground Transylvania in 1919 is a place of poverty and persecution for the Rom people Salvo follows his father to a village church where the senior Ursari the only man who volunteers for the task is to climb the steeple to replace a large iron crucifix that had been removed for safe keeping during the war he restores the cross but it is not properly attached and as they are leaving it falls killing a priest when the villagers exact their revenge Salvo's parents are killed and he is separated from his brother and sister thus begins nearly a lifetime of being forced to flee from suspicion and misfortune that takes the reader from Europe to the US to British Columbia's Fraser Valley and back to Manhattan Ascension combines powerful storytelling including stories of the Romany people poverty stricken but resourceful and rich in legend with great surprise and originality Steven Galloway makes it clear why he is one of the hottest young writers in Canada today excerpt from Ascension once a newspaper man had asked him what it felt like to walk high above the crowd with death looming beneath you and success a long way off on the other platform Salvo had told the man that it was like being a bird an eagle but he knew that wasn't true at all he was a man nothing more still he was a man who dared do things other men watched and admired and were jealous of he walked for these people as much as for anyone but today he was walking only for himself that was the difference with these solo walks when he was among them he was one of them but here he is timeless one man on a wire far above it all in a separate place he was not free but he was as free as he would ever be
