the case of history vs the tanakh and the bible is not about attacking anyone s faith it s about asking the basic questions most people never stop to ask if a book claims to record real events real people real timelines and real history then the evidence should back it up this volume puts the story under the light using the same standard of proof that historians archaeologists and scholars use for any other ancient text this is not the final answer to everything it s the beginning of the case the reader becomes the judge the evidence comes from credible researchers in archaeology ancient near eastern studies linguistics and history they raise serious questions about timelines historicity of kings battles and events that the bible presents as literal history this book asks does the historical record agree with the biblical record where do the timelines line up and where do they fall apart what claims can be supported and what claims remain unproven the goal isn't to force a conclusion but to open the case to lay out the documents the facts and the contradictions so the reader can see the difference between tradition and history this work is not meant to close the conversation it is meant to start it it hands the files over to the reader and simply says here is the evidence now you decide it is written what had been hidden from the wise and prudent has now been made known to babes and suckling here's a book that has revealed the truth about the name of the god of creation and we cannot truly call upon the name of the lord as the bible entreats us to do if we don't know his name many people have written books about the names of god and what's disheartening is that not one of those so-called names is the revealed name of god
